What is a first plan?

If you are a NDIS participant, you will get a first plan.

Your first plan will talk about your needs and the goals you want to achieve.

Your first plan will include details about the supports and services you need to reach your goals.

You will choose your service providers.

You will choose which supports you receive.

Visit www.ndis.nsw.gov.au for more information about the rollout of the NDIS in NSW
Talking about your first plan

Someone from the NDIS will contact you, your family or carer.

They will make a time to talk to you about your first NDIS plan.

This is called a discussion.

You can bring a family member, carer or guardian along to the discussion to support you.

Get ready for your discussion

You should make sure you have information about your life and the supports you receive now.

If you receive supports from the NSW Government now, you will receive an information folder.

This information might include reports and assessments.

The folder will have all the documents to do with your support. Bring this information to your first plan discussion.
What happens after the discussion?

The information from the discussion will go into your first NDIS plan.

The plan will be made just for you and your needs.

It will also be compared to the plans of people with similar needs as you.

This helps us know if the types of support and funding you receive will meet your needs.
Reviewing your plan

Your plan will be reviewed after 1 year.

This is to make sure that you are still receiving supports that best suit your needs and help you reach your goals.

If your needs change a lot before then, you can ask for a review of your plan earlier.

Where can I get more information about my first plan

You can call the National Disability Insurance Agency on 1800 800 110

Or you can visit their website at www.ndis.gov.au